

GILBERT & GAILLARD

THE FRENCH EXPERTS ON WINE

CHARLOTTE
MOLINARI:
ENGINEER,
COMPANY CHIEF
AND WINE GROWER

28-year-old Charlotte Molinari recently began managing the family estate at Château Pont de Brion, near Langon in the Graves

BORDEAUX 2015 EN PRIMEUR:
SUCCESSFUL, BUT NOT OUTSTANDING

STARS AND WINE:
SHAKIRA AND MARK WAHLBERG

HISTORY

OF THE VINEYARDS

Christophe Fillioux has taken over from his father Pascal and perpetuates the tradition of the family 'noses'

COGNAC JEAN FILLIOUX: GENTLEMEN DISTILLERS

Five generations have contributed their skills to the magnificent Domaine de la Pouyade – in the family since 1894 – which has a firm rooting in the part of Grande Champagne known locally as the 'golden triangle'. Christophe has now taken over from his father Pascal and perpetuates the tradition of the family 'noses'. The family-run house has for decades marketed top-end niche products, striving to produce authentic Cognacs and also provide connoisseurs with extremely old brandies. The limestone soils in the company's vineyards yield very racy, refined brandies with substantial ageing capacity. The fine quality of distilling and pinpoint precision blending are revealed on the palate. Aroma is precise and the Cognacs are extremely classic in style. Full of authenticity, they allow you to totally immerse yourself in the Grande Champagne region.

Jean Fillioux: Very racy, refined brandies with substantial ageing capacity

5 hl 52 of the 1990 vintage, equating to approximately 734 bouteilles of the precious nectar